Put Responsibility Up to

Faherty, Auditor Says.

Will not block Gov. Richardson's plan to define Mr. Faherty, and he said: to have Scott serve out the remainder of his term for burgiary at San Quentin.

By Phillip Kinsley.

New testimony directly connecting Michael J. Faherty, former president of the board of public improvements and George F. Harding, former city controller, with knowledge of and responsibility for the payments of huge sums to three real estate experts in 1920 was given in Judge Hugo Friend's court yesterday by Joseph Harvey, chief auditor in the controller's office. This bestimony came as a surprise to the defense and was met at once by Attorney Samuel A. Ettelson, attorney for Mr. Harding and former mayor William Hale Thompson, by showing from the special grand Jury record that investigated this subject in 1923 that lâr. Harvey at that time testified that he had never discussed propriety or validity of these payments with Mr. Harding at any time.

Witness Explains Discrepancy.

In Harvey testified on re-direct mination that at the time of the ind jury proceedings he had not red the conversations with Mr. Hard in which he had been told to put real estate vouchers through. The mas so far has been that Mr. Hard had no knowledge whatever of se payments, and that his signature he vouchers was lithographed. nother surprise for Mr. Ettelson that Mr. Hard in the controller's office, was examined by Attorney Weymouth Kirkiand in part as follows:

Q.—Do you remember when the vouchers of the three experts, Lyons, waller and Merigold, came to you for the first time, payable out of the "S" appropiations? A.—Approximately, yes, after he had verified the signates. It was drawn out upon cross mination by Mr. Ettelson that Mr. A.—Well, I took them up with Mr.

The new number that awakened the baidheads revealed the Crowe-Barrett group and the Deneen outfit — who never speak of each other without much guashing of the bridgework, theoretically at least—disporting themselves together in a rollicking chorus and dance over the state treasurership.

It fairly knocked the spectators dissy. The rival ballots, it develops are both to mark their sample ballots for Garrett De Forest Kinney of Peerla, a Deneen last ditcher and bitter under.

It's difficult to describe the intricacies of the episode without recourse to a diagram and a wall map, but what happened is this, briefly:

On Cook county offices, there is a Deneen-Lundin and a Crowe-Barrett-Thompson hookup, as the slates will show. On state offices, Lundin and Small fastened their lamps on the state treasurership, the office once held by the governor. As candidate Lundin-Small trotted out William S. In the minds of a few people there still persists the idea that conditions of modern suburban life are much the same. But the popular trend toward the suburbs in all American cities tells another story.

It is impossible to think of a convenience or an advantage belonging to the city dweller that the suburban family does not have at its commandplus the priceless asset of home ownership with all that this implies.

It is a noteworthy fact that entire communities of wonderfully contented families can trace their present fortunate situation to the "Homesteading" inspiration they received from Auspitz & Oakes.

The opening of extensive improved properties, already influenced in value by new rapid electric transportation facilities, will be publicly announced soon. Advance confidential information will gladly be furnished

MARCH

March 15 already casts its shadow. Preparation of income tax returns comes at a season when many men desire most to be away. This often prevents their going.

You can leave a well organized business. It goes along as planned. But property and investment cares may keep a man at home indefinitely. They often demand attention when he can least afford the time.

The modern way is to throw that whole burden on a trust company, equipped to look after the details even better than it could be done by the owner himself. Safekeeping securities, cutting coupons, collecting income, paying taxes, recording interest and dividends, and making out the income tax report, are details which busy executives find it unprofitable to bother with. They are efficiently done at slight cost by our Trust Department.

Our booklet "Better than a Financial Secretary" outlines this service and its flexibility to meet the requirements of every person of property.

Some friends of the girl were discussing her broken engagement. She had been engaged for three years. Nene knew exactly why she had not married in the first or second year. Money was not the cause, nor responsibilities on either side.

your lashes, and no one on earth will ever suspect that you don't know the ropes, as the saying goes. Only don't try to talk baby talk along with this makeup. It won't help a bit.

We have just seen the transformation of a nice young girl who fell into the hands of an authority on makeup. Heretofore, the girl complained that men ogied her on the street; some were bold enough to speak. Twas suggested that perhaps her makeup had something to do with the judgment of the accosting male.

"Other girls," she replied, "makeup their eyes for the street. Why not I?"

The other girls didn't ley it on with a trowel. They probably chose a coloring that faded into the background. As we have remarked before, the sin of makeup, nowadays, is in applying it without craft.

A blonde, as our transformed young A blonde, as our transformed young woman was, should never use solid black around the eyes. It destroys the youth of her whole face. The color of the hair and the eyelashes give the key to the eye-makeup shade. If you have yellow or light brown lashes, a brown mascaro is the thing to use. There is a bronze shade particularly good for that colorless eyebrow and lash on the too-fair girl.

It is rather worth while to be able to classify correctly the dressings or sauces we use, and we have to go back somewhat in cookery to see how they started. For cold meats what we today call a French dressing was used, plain or with chopped capers, chopped pickle, chopped onlon, etc. It was called a vinalgrette.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON. Fish Salad Dressing.

When people do not like lemon juice in salad dressings for general use, they do usually like it in salad dressings, or what formerly was more likely to be called a salad sauce, for fish. As for mayonnaise itself, it was probably invented to use with fish. In the old cook books there are such recipes as "salmon mayonnaise," "lobster mayonnaise," etc., although these same books contain no salad recipes what-soover.

One of the old and rather aristo-cratic fish salad sauces, or dressings, is this: One cup of cream, one tablespoon of corn starch, two egg yolks, spoon of corn starch, two egg yolks, the juice of two lemons, one-half teaspoon tarragon vinegar, one-half teaspoon salt, three or four grains of cayenne pepper. The old way of making this was to boil the cream with the corn stagh until thickened, then to stir in the beaten egg yolks and, as it cools, beat it to keep it from becoming lump. When it is nearly cold attributions when it is nearly cold attributions. ing lumpy. When it is nearly cold, stir in the lemons juice, vinger, salt, and cayenne. These may be mixed together.

The finnan haddie we get today when cooked and cold, is excellent with this dressing, or the fish may be mixed with cold potatoes, cooked beets, etc., to extend it.

Visions Nation-Wide System in a Few Months.

BY J. L. JENKINS.

He told the delegates to the first national convention of the American Drivurself association, meeting in the Hotel Sherman, that the infant industry which supplies cars to the individual driver for a certain rental per mile will outstrip the taxicab business five to one in the next few years and urged them to play the "mile market" for a steady rise.

Lists Great Passibilities

organized in Florida.

The first step in this block organization, he explained, has already occurred in Florida, where "Drivurself" companies have incorporated and opened cooperative stations in the various transportation centers, with the Herts organization underwriting the venture.

"I have been convinced for two and one-half years," he added, "that the business is going to be the greatest individual transportation system the world has ever known."

Chicago to one of the rental stations, lake out a first class car, drive it to St. Louis or New York, pay his nominal mileage charges to a rental depot at his destination and proceed about his business with no more thought of transportation worries.

"With the volume of this business infercasing by leaps and bounds, the frental rates can be lowered and the overhead cut down until it is soing to be cheaper to drive one of these cars than to use taxicabs or to own a car. I predict that volume business will eventually bring the mile cost down as low as 10 cents, perhaps lewer, and that the entire nation will be organized to furnish this new and ideal type of transportation."

With military escorts from Morgan Park and Culvar military academies and many public officials, including Mayor Dever, in attendance, the body of Edward J Kelly Jr., 14 year old son of the president of the south park board, yesterday was borne to a grave in Calvary cemetery. A squad of motorcycle police from the south parks preceded the cortége from St. Ambrose church. The boy died Monday following an operation. He was taken ill at the indiana school on Feb. 22.
